

Art Therapy: Journal of the American Art Therapy Association

2014 Best Paper Award

A Review of the Principles for Culturally-Appropriate Art Therapy Assessment Tools

Donna Betts, PhD, ATR-BC

Volume 30, Issue 3, 2013

“A Review of the Principles for Culturally-Appropriate Art Therapy Assessment Tools” has been selected to receive the Art Therapy: Journal of the American Art Therapy Association Best Paper Award for 2014. This honor recognizes an outstanding contribution to the peer-reviewed literature with significance to the theory and practice of art therapy.

Dr. Holly Feen, chair of the selection committee, said, “This paper was selected because of its sound scholarship, professional relevance, and quality presentation. Reviewers commended the critical argument the paper presented for the importance of culturally appropriate assessments and commented on the paper’s strong and important contribution to art therapy literature. The exemplary level of scholarship was also a factor in the paper’s selection. Furthermore, the paper was accessible and well organized.”

The award was presented on July 11th, 2014, in San Antonio, TX at the 2014 Annual Conference of the American Art Therapy Association. The paper is now free to view on the Art Therapy: Journal of the American Art Therapy Association web page:

<http://www.tandfonline.com/doi/full/10.1080/07421656.2013.819280>.