

Critical Policy Studies

Introductory statement on the Interpretive Policy Analysis conference in Kassel, June 2009

Barbara Dickhaus; Frank Fischer; Christian Möllmann; Christoph Scherrer and Helen Schwenken

Articles

Policy discourse as sanctioned ignorance: theorizing the erasure of feminist knowledge

Mary Hawkesworth

How can power discourses be changed? Contrasting the 'daughter deficit' policy of the Delhi government with Gandhi and King's transformational reframing

Manisha Sinha and Des Gasper

Power, discourse, and policy: articulating a hegemony approach to critical policy studies

David Howarth

Cultural political economy and critical policy studies

Bob Jessop

The implicit normativity of political practices. Analyzing the dynamics and power relations of committee decision-making

Frank Nullmeier and Tanja Pritzlaff

Politicizing sustainable development: the co-production of globalized evidence-based policy

Laureen Elgert

Forum

Debates in French policy studies: from cognitive to discursive approaches

Philippe Zittoun and Benoît Demongeot

Policy deliberation: confronting subjectivity and emotional expression

Frank Fischer

Kassel roundtable on Habermas: German perspectives

Jürgen Habermas and critical policy studies

Hubertus Buchstein

Habermas and critical policy studies: legitimation, judgment, and participation

Thomas Saretzki

Democratic and technocratic policy deliberation

Claudia Landwehr

The epistemic turn of critical theory: implications for deliberative politics and policy-making

Dirk Jörke

Habermas' theory of democracy and critical policy studies: an \(undistorted\) elective affinity?

Rainer Schmalz-Bruns