

CONTENTS (Volume 1 - 7)

Volume 1, 1995

Strategic planning for information and technology in higher education

D.K. Allen and T.D. Wilson

IRIS - a Z39.50 national information system

J.D. Trevor Peare

Acrobat, Mosaic and Guide as vehicles for electronic journals

Judith Wusteman and Heather Brown

The case for content integrity in electronic chemistry journals: The CLIC Project

David James, Benjamin J. Whitaker, Christopher Hildyard, Henry S. Rzepa, Omer Casher, Jonathan M. Goodman, David Riddick and Peter Murray-Rust

The Library and Information Commission public library Internet survey: First Public Report (December 1995)

Sarah Ormes and Lorcan Dempsey

The EARL Consortium: the evolution of Public Library Internet Project

Geoffrey Hare

The Croydon Libraries Internet Project

Jenny Dick

Potential impact of high speed networking on teaching and learning in universities

J. Aston and J.B. Slater

EDUCATE: a user education program for information retrieval and handling

Nancy Fjällbrant

Computer networking: academic development and education

Vytautas Reklaitis and Jim Strom

NETWORK RESOURCES AND ACCESS TOOLS

How to find out about new resources on the Internet

Alison S. McNab and Ian R. Winship

Mathematics, statistics, operational research and the Internet

Roy Davies

SABINET

Vanessa du Plessis and Pierre Malan

GeoTouch: a global environmental education project (Global Ecosphere Observation through Teamwork of Universal Children)

Mikiko Sekiguchi

LINK and <link.library>: resources for North-South library development

Mark Perkins

Creating the virtual community: supporting Internet users by e-mail

Alison S. McNab

Searching the World Wide Web with Lycos and InfoSeek

Tracey Stanley

Infofilter: making sense of the Internet

Boyd K. Collins and Eileen Flick

Volume 2, 1996

Resource discovery on the Internet

Jon P. Knight

Automated categorisation of Web resources: a profile of selected projects, research, products and services

Gerry McKiernan

Electronic document delivery suitable for all libraries and their users: fiction or reality?

Brian Cook

IT POINT: Internet in a public library context

Gulsham Kayam and Sue Turner

Multimedia and communications technologies in school and college libraries

Ceris Bergen

Addressing heterogeneity in the networked information environment

Michelle Q. Wang Baldonado and Steve B. Cousins

Building the digital library: a brief look at the British Library's position

Neil Smith and John Mahoney

The development of national bibliographic and document access services in Australia

Warwick S. Cathro

A MAN for all reasons

Jim Strom and Peter Mills

Planning library buildings for the Information Age

Andrew McDonald

Researchers on the Pier: academics' use of a local Internet gateway

Neil A. Jacobs, Ian D. Budden and Roger J. Discombe

Multi-linguality in networking services: the MAITS project

Borka Jerman-Blazic

NETWORK RESOURCES AND ACCESS TOOLS

The Bodleian Library's Internet gateway

Richard Gartner

The UCS Knowledge Base: Indiana University's virtual consultant

Dawn Hewitt

Asian Studies WWW Virtual Library: a large scale scholarly guide to Internet resources

T. Matthew Ciolek

East Asian Libraries Cooperative World Wide Web: an experiment in collaboration to build interdependence

Maureen H. Donovan

NetEc and economics information on the Internet

Lauri Saarinen

SANET: Slovak Academic Network - development of the infrastructure

Pavol Horvath

A small network service provider: the development of information options and international connectivity

Rupert Brown and Cesare Dieni

Structure or chaos? Document formats investigated

Maria A.M. Heijne

Questions of quality

C.J. Armstrong

EUROPAGATE: multifunctional gateway for information retrieval protocols (EC Telematics for Libraries Programme project no. 2062)

Annette Kelly

Volume 3, 1997

Issues facing the information service provider

Andy Schulkins

Smart and smarter: Exeter University Library and the implementation of a campus-wide card

Alasdair Paterson

Managing digital collections: towards a strategic framework for the development of appropriate and effective organisational data policies. Part 1

Daniel Greenstein

Access to and services for U.S. federal information in the networked environment

Joan F. Cheverie

NDLTD: preparing the next generation of scholars for the information age

Edward A. Fox, Robert Hall and Neill Kipp

Z39.50: a critical component of the Canadian resource sharing infrastructure; implementation activities and results achieved

Carrol D. Lunau

Measuring researchers' preferences for CASIAS

Kate Brunskill

Tackling international copyright on behalf of the user community

Sandy Norman

ARIADNE: the hybrid magazine in the hybrid library

John MacColl

Ontological structures for knowledge sharing

M.J.R. Shave

NETWORK RESOURCES AND ACCESS TOOLS

UK library and information science resources on the Internet

Ian Tilsed

Welding and joining resources on the Internet

Sheila M. Thomas

An idiot's guide to the Dublin Core

Andy Powell

New sites, new sounds: an Internet resource on the music and musicians of free improvisation

Peter Stubley

Technological determinism or user demand? Current developments in The Data Archive

Simon Musgrave

SLISNET - UNESCO's experiment in virtual networking between Schools of Librarianship and Information Sciences

Ian M. Johnson

Europe's Forum on International Cooperation (EUFORIC): a cooperative approach to web-based information resources

Peter Ballantyne

Jack and the InfoFinder agent

Chad Burkey and Bruce Krulwich

Evaluating Index Morganagus: indexing and providing access to library-related serials using Harvest

Eric Lease Morgan

Webbook for Engineers: an interactive information skills programme

Gulcin Cribb and Leith Woodall

Volume 4, 1998

Realising the Hybrid Library

Stephen Pinfield, Jonathan Eaton, Catherine Edwards, Rosemary Russell, Astrid Wissenburg and Peter Wynne

Libraries, the Internet and older people

Monica Blake

Challenges facing information specialists in Malaysia's Multimedia Super Corridor

Edna O.F. Reid

Impact of information technology developments on the information handling techniques of research scientists: implications of selected results

Mary Davies

Economic, social, technical models for digital libraries of primary resources: the example of the Art Museum Image Consortium (AMICO)

David Bearman and Jennifer Trant

The distance between us: information literacy and the developing world

Lynne Rudasill

The DESIRE Project: promoting and facilitating Web usage among Europe's research community

Emma Worsfold and Debra Hiom

COPEARMS and ERMS: cooperation in rights management in the electronic environment

Judy Watkins

A networked environment for information retrieval, document ordering and delivery: results and experiences from the German project DBV-OSI II

Christine Bossmeyer and Bernd Hergeth

NETWORK RESOURCES AND ACCESS TOOLS

Fundraising on the Internet: an overview of UK charities' income-generation activities online

Howard Lake

Australia's cultural network: why and how?

Rupert Hewison

Seamless integration: electronic information strategies at Cranfield University

Simon Bains and Simon J. Bevan

An idiots guide to the Resource Description Framework

Renato Iannella

Access control, payment, and smart cards in libraries

Francoise Vandooren

Engineering a professional society for the digital age: The Internet Technical Group

Chris Forsythe

Vantage points: Information gateways for business in the Yorkshire and Humber Region

Ann Priestley

Volume 5, 1999

The library, the catalogue, the broker: brokering access to information in the hybrid library

Lorcan Dempsey

Public access to the Internet: new approaches from Internet Cafes and Community Technology Centres and their implications for libraries

Sonia Liff, Fred Steward and Peter Watts

Major electronic publishing projects at Loughborough University

Fytton Rowland

Encoded archival description: an introduction and overview

Daniel V. Pitti

Digital libraries: developing a conceptual framework

David Bawden and Ian Rowlands

Struggling to define the library of the future: some observations on What makes a digital librarian?

Julie Carpenter

Voluntary organisations on the Net: insights and innovations

Dr Eleanor Burt and Professor John Taylor

NETWORK RESOURCES AND ACCESS TOOLS

InfoQuest: collaborative development of a subject resource gateway

Sarah Fredline and Brian Reis

The MetaWeb Project: an Australian contribution to enhanced resource discovery on the World Wide Web

Debbie Campbell

Training materials for advanced information skills in engineering: a web-based approach

Dr Bob Kemp

Providing engineering information for educators

Sian Hawthorne

Construction industry information sources

Dr Alan Bridges

The clearinghouse as a chameleon: the Australian Clearinghouse for Youth Studies online information services and print publications

Anne Hugo

Volume 6, 2000

Value not Virtual - one library's response to the virtual campus

Sue McKnight

Towards a Scottish Portal: the past, present and future of CAIRNS

Dennis Nicholson, Gordon Dunsire, Mark Denham and Helena Gillis

Measuring the impact of an electronic journal collection on library costs: a framework and preliminary observations

Carol Hansen Montgomery

Networked information literacy - the European EDUCATE and DEDICATE projects

Nancy Fjällbrant

Accessing networked information: research, issues and implications

Ross Todd

On-line learning: a quality experience

Cathy Gunn and John Barnett

J-STAGE: electronic journal

publication/dissemination center: a total system for electronic journal publication and distribution via the Internet

Soichi Tokizane

Lightening grey literature: making the invisible visible

C.A. Sidwell, P.A.S. Needham and J.D. Harrington

Publishers' relationships on the web: an examination of how publishers' websites are causing changes in relations in the book industry

Jo Royle and Rosemary Stockdale

NETWORK RESOURCES AND ACCESS TOOLS

The Resource Discovery Network: www.rdn.ac.uk

Justine Kitchen and Simon Jennings

IPR-Helpdesk: the intellectual property rights gateway for the networked information world

Alexander Weir

The Spire Project: innovative gateway on the process of finding information

David Novak

Construction on-line

Tom Harvey

Learning sites: networked resources and the learning community

Paul Light, Charles Crook and Su White

Volume 7, 2001

Interoperability

Guest Editor: Ray Lester

Introduction

Ray Lester

Interoperability and information discovery

Eliot Christian

Interoperability convergence of online learning and information environments

Neil McLean

Creating an academic self-documentation system through digital library interoperability: the RePEc model

Emily Walshe

Open linking in the scholarly information environment using the OpenURL Framework

Herbert Van de Sompel and Oren Beit-Arie

The CHIN experience: interoperability

K. Geber and Suhas Deshpande

The interoperability jigsaw: finding the edge-pieces for The Natural History Museum

Neil Thomson and Rachel Perkins

Rethinking EAD: balancing flexibility and interoperability

Elizabeth J. Shaw

Better interoperability through the Open Archives Initiative

Michael L. Nelson

Interoperability in subject terminologies: The HILT Project

Dennis Nicholson and Susannah Neill

Syntactic and semantic interoperability: new approaches to knowledge and the semantic web

Kim H. Veltman

The people's heritage: democratising our memory institutions

Liz Lyon and Paul Miller

NETWORK RESOURCES AND ACCESS TOOLS

Introduction

Roderick A. MacLeod

Mapping research in South Africa: the development of the Yenza! site

Peter G. Underwood

Quipu: a vortal dedicated to researchers of Andean archaeology

Patricia Knobloch and Bruce Harley

The Visual Resources Association, its role and its future

Ann Baird Whiteside

Adding value to student learning: integrating the hybrid library into the virtual learning environment

Michael Emly and Claire Ryan

InfoTorg from past to present: on a large Swedish online service and its role in the online market

Lars Klasén

Reclaiming academic output through university archive servers

Maarten van Bentum, Renze Brandsma, Thomas Place and Hans Roes

Cultivate Interactive: uniting Europe through digital cultural heritage

Marieke Napier

Web-based affiliate schemes

John Kirriemuir