

Instructions for Authors for the Journal of Economic Policy Reform

Editor-in-Chief: Judith Clifton, Department of Economics, University of Cantabria, Av de los Castros S.N., Santander, Cantabria, Spain E39005 judith.clifton@unican.es

Contributors to the journal are requested to read the following instructions prior to submitting their work for peer review. Submission of a paper to this journal will be taken to imply that it represents original work not previously published, that it is not being considered elsewhere for publication, and that if accepted for publication will not be published elsewhere in the same form, in any language, without consent of the publisher and editors. It is a condition of acceptance by the editor of a typescript that the publisher acquires automatically the copyright in the typescript throughout the world.

Main Text

Please ensure your main text has been fully anonymised. The body of the paper should be between 6,000 and 8,000 words. Should the paper contain figures or graphs, the space they occupy should be deducted from the overall word count. For instance, a graph occupying half a printed page deducts approximately 300 words from the overall word count. Equations should be consecutively numbered on the right hand side of the page, or placed in a self-contained appendix that is double spaced. The editorial board requests that the paper is written in a way that is understandable by specialists, practitioners and scholars. Send it as an attachment in MS Word or in PDF. If accepted for publication, authors will need to submit the main text in MS Word or other suitable form agreed upon by the editor. The main text is to be double-spaced in 12pt Time Rome in its entirety, including the title, the abstract, keywords, acknowledgements, endnotes, captions to figures and tables, and an abstract for copy-editing purposes. The abstract must be less than 100 words. Wide margins should be left for editing.

Headings: All headings in the text should be set over to the left-hand margin.

Level one example: This is an A Heading

Level two example: This is a B Heading

Level three example: This is a C heading

Level four example: [indented from l/h margin] This is a D heading. [text run on here]

Endnotes: Endnotes should be placed after the conclusion, before the list of references. Only essential endnotes should be included. The endnote section should begin a new page. The author footnote/acknowledgment should be given an asterisk and listed first.

References: References should be indicated in the text by the name and date system: either "Recent work (Smith 1984)..." or "Recently Smith (1984)..." . If more than three authors are listed, cite the references as "Smith et al. (1984)..." . References should be collected and typed at the end of the paper in alphabetical order according to the first author. They should be complete in all details, including article, book and journal titles in full.

Book Title:

Agénor, P. R. & Montiel, P. J. (1999) Development Macroeconomics, 2nd edn (Princeton, NJ: Princeton University Press).

Journal Article:

Booth, P. & Cooper, D. (2002) The tax treatment of UK defined contribution pension schemes, Fiscal Studies, 23(1), pp. 77–104.

Chapter in Book:

Caballero, R. (2003) Coping with Chile's external vulnerability: a financial problem, in: N. Loayza & R. Soto (Eds) Economic Growth: Sources, Trends and Cycles, p. 377–415 (Santiago: Banco Central de Chile).

Title Page

Authors are also requested to attach a title page, including the name, contact details, telephone number and email of the authors, the title of the paper, the abstract, the Journal of Economic Literature (JEL) code(s) and up to six key words or phrases that characterize the contents of the paper. These will be used for indexing and data retrieval purposes. The abstract should not exceed 100 words and should summarize the significant coverage and findings. An email will be sent to the corresponding author alerting them to their proofs which will be available within the Taylor & Francis tracking system (CATS). Full instructions are given in the email.

Tables and Figures

Tables and figures should be supplied in separate files, and their approximate position in the main text is to be indicated, for example, with "Insert Table 1 around here".

Please do not include tables and figures that are not cited in the text.

All figures should be numbered with consecutive Arabic numerals, have descriptive captions that are double spaced. All figures provided must be cited in the text. It is the author's responsibility to obtain permission for any reproduction from other sources. Figures must be of a high enough standard for direct reproduction. Axes of graphs should be properly labeled and appropriate units given. Figures in Adobe Illustrator, Corel Draw, JPG and GIF formats are acceptable, provided they print in a crisp clear form and print in black and white (no colour figures please). A list of figure captions should be typed on a separate sheet and included in the typescript.

Number tables with consecutive Arabic numerals and give a clear descriptive heading. Avoid the use of vertical rules in tables. Table footnotes should be typed below the table, designated by superior lower-case letters.

Cover Letter

If desired, authors may also include a cover letter to the editorial board.

Proofs: All corresponding authors will be sent an email from the publisher, requesting that they access the CATS system to check and submit corrections to their proofs. Authors are requested to submit corrections within 48 hours of receiving the email, and also to return the signed copyright form where requested in the email.

Early Electronic Offprints: Corresponding authors can receive their article by e-mail as a complete PDF. This allows the author to print up to 50 copies, free of charge, and disseminate them to colleagues. In many cases this facility will be available up to two weeks prior to publication. Or, alternatively, corresponding authors will receive the traditional 50 offprints, these must be requested when submitting corrections. A copy of the journal will be sent to all corresponding authors after publication. Additional copies of the journal can be purchased at the author's preferential rate of £15.00.

Copyright: It is a condition of publication that authors assign copyright or license the publication rights in their articles, including abstracts, to Taylor & Francis. This enables us to ensure full copyright protection and to disseminate the article, and of course the Journal, to the widest possible readership in print and electronic formats as appropriate. Authors may, of course, use the article elsewhere after publication without prior permission from Taylor & Francis, provided that acknowledgement is given to the Journal as original source of publication, and that Taylor & Francis is notified so that our records show that its use is properly authorised. Authors retain a number of other rights under the Taylor & Francis rights policies documents. These policies are referred to at <http://www.tandf.co.uk/journals/authorrights.pdf> for full details. Authors are themselves responsible for obtaining permission to reproduce copyright material from other sources.
