African and Black Diaspora
An International Journal
PUBLICATION OF THE DEPAUL CENTRE FOR BLACK DIASPORA
Editors: Dr Fassil Demissie, DePaul University, USA
Dr Sandra Jackson, DePaul University, USA
Volume 5, 2 issues per year
This is the first academic journal that directly addresses the needs of scholars working in the important field of African Diaspora studies. It advances the analytical and interrogative discourses that constitute this distinctive interdisciplinary study of the deterritorialised and transnational nature of the African and Black Diaspora.

Asian Ethnicity
Editor: Professor Chih-yu Shih, National Taiwan University, Taiwan
Volume 13, 3 issues per year
In the 21st century ethnic issues have assumed importance in many parts of the world. Until recently, questions of Asian ethnicity and identity have been treated in a balkanized fashion, with anthropologists, economists, historians, political scientists, sociologists and others publishing their studies in single-discipline journals. Asian Ethnicity provides a cross-disciplinary, international venue for the publication of well-researched articles about ethnic groups and ethnic relations in the half of the world where questions of ethnicity now loom largest.

Ethnic and Racial Studies

Listed in the Thomson Reuters Social Sciences Citation Index®

Editors: Martin Bulmer, University of Surrey, UK

John Solomos, City University London, UK

Volume 35, 12 issues per year

Race, ethnicity and nationalism are at the heart of many of the major social and political issues in the present global environment. New antagonisms have emerged which require a rethinking of traditional theoretical and empirical perspectives. Ethnic and Racial Studies is the leading journal for the analysis of these issues throughout the world. The journal provides an interdisciplinary academic forum for the presentation of research and theoretical analysis, drawing on sociology, social policy, anthropology, political science, economics, geography, international relations, history, social psychology and cultural studies.

Identities is now published in association with Ethnic and Racial Studies.

EthnoPolitics

JOURNAL OF THE SPECIALIST GROUP ON ETHNOPOLITICS AND THE ASSOCIATION FOR THE STUDY OF NATIONALITIES

Editors: Stefan Wolff, University of Birmingham, UK

Karl Cordell, University of Plymouth, UK

Volume 11, 4 issues per year

EthnoPolitics maintains a fair balance between theoretical analyses and case studies both of comparative as well as singular nature, covering all geographic areas. The major focus is on the analysis, management, settlement, and prevention of ethnic conflicts, on minority rights, group identity, the intersection of identity group formations and politics, on minority and majority nationalisms in the context of transitions to democracy, and on the security and stability of states and regions as they are affected by any of the above issues. Particular attention is also devoted to the growing importance of the international dimension of ethno-politics, including diplomatic and military interventions, and the increasing impact of globalisation on ethnic identities and their political expressions.

Identity Studies

Global Studies in Culture and Power

Listed in the Thomson Reuters Social Sciences Citation Index®

Now published in association with Ethnic and Racial Studies, with a new Editorial team and Aims & Scope

Editor: Claire Alexander, London School of Economics and Political Science, UK

Associate Editors: Raminder Kaur, University of Sussex, UK

Brett St Louis, Goldsmiths, University of London, UK

Volume 19, 6 issues per year

Identities: Global Studies in Culture and Power explores the formation and transformation of racial, ethnic, national, transnational and postcolonial identities in the contemporary world. It locates culture, representations and identities as key sites for processes of domination, struggle and resistance, recognizing their intersection with other forms of social division and identification.

Identities provides an interdisciplinary space for new theoretically informed empirical research and critical analysis which opens up questions of race, ethnicity and culture. It draws on and brings together insights from anthropology, cultural studies, sociology, social policy, cultural geography, political science and social psychology. Published in association with Ethnic and Racial Studies, Identities seeks to engage established and emerging scholars in the field in contributing high quality articles. Special issues, commentaries and debates which address key questions of culture and identity with which the journal is engaged.

Interventions

International Journal of Postcolonial Studies

Listed in the Thomson Reuters Social Sciences and Arts & Humanities Citation Indices®

Editor: Robert Young, New York University, USA

Volume 14, 4 issues per year

Interventions focuses on the following aspects of postcolonial research, theory and politics:

- The histories of imperialism and colonialism
- The role of culture (academic, literary and popular) in the operation of imperialism and in the formations of national resistance
- Liberation struggles, past and ongoing
- The role of religion and culture in new nationalisms
- The contemporary politics of identity: race and ethnicity: gender and sexuality
- The economics of neo-colonialism
- Diaspora and migrancy
- Indigenous fourth-world cultures
- The connections between colonialism and modernity, postcolonialism and postmodernism
- Questions of postcolonial literatures
- Languages and translation

The assumption guiding the editorial policy is that a journal, while representing a disciplinary field, can also make effective interventions within it - interrogating, shaping and extending it without seeking to dictate.

Journal of Human Rights
Editor: Richard P. Hiskes, University of Connecticut, USA
Volume 11, 4 issues per year
The Journal of Human Rights serves as an arena for the public discussion and scholarly analysis of human rights, broadly conceived. It seeks to broaden the study of human rights by fostering the critical re-examination of existing approaches to human rights, as well as to develop new perspectives on the theory and practice of human rights. The journal provides the opportunity for the critical examination of the human rights community and of the different visions of human rights and different practical strategies which exist within that community. The editor welcomes papers from scholars and disciplines traditionally associated with the study of human rights, as well as papers from those in other disciplines or fields of inquiry which have traditionally been underrepresented in the field of human rights. The Journal of Human Rights is committed to theoretical and ideological diversity in the study of human rights.

Language & Intercultural Communication

Listed in the Thomson Reuters Social Sciences Citation Index®
Editors: Malcolm MacDonald, University of Warwick, UK
John O'Regan, Institute of Education, University of London, UK

Volume 12, 4 issues per year

Language & Intercultural Communication promotes an interdisciplinary understanding of the interplay between language and intercultural communication. It therefore welcomes research into intercultural communication, particularly where it explores the importance of linguistic aspects; and research into language, especially the learning of foreign languages, where it explores the importance of intercultural perspectives. The journal is alert to the implications for education, especially higher education, and for language learning and teaching. It is also receptive to research on the frontiers between languages and cultures, and on the implications of linguistic and intercultural issues for the world of work.

Social Identities
Journal for the Study of Race, Nation and Culture

Editors: Pal Ahuwalia, University of South Australia, Australia
Toby Miller, University of California, USA

Volume 18, 6 issues per year

Recent years have witnessed considerable worldwide changes concerning social identities such as race, nation and ethnicity, as well as the emergence of new forms of racism and nationalism as discriminatory exclusions. Social Identities aims to furnish an interdisciplinary and international focal point for theorizing issues at the interface of social identities.

The journal is especially concerned to address these issues in the context of transforming political economies and cultures of postmodern and postcolonial conditions. Social Identities is intended as a forum for contesting ideas and debates concerning the formations of, and transformations in, socially significant identities, their attendant forms of material exclusion and power, as well as the political and cultural possibilities opened up by these identifications.

Social Movement Studies
Journal of Social, Cultural and Political Protest

Editors: Graeme Hayes, Aston University, UK
Nick Crossley, University of Manchester, UK
Brian Doherty, Keele University, UK
Kevin Gillan, University of Manchester, UK (Reviews)
John Krinsky, City College of New York, USA
Jenny Pickerill, University of Leicester, UK (Profiles)

Volume 11, 4 issues per year

Social Movement Studies is an international and inter-disciplinary journal providing a forum for academic debate and analysis of extra-parliamentary political, cultural and social movements throughout the world. Social Movement Studies has a broad, inter-disciplinary approach designed to accommodate papers engaging with any theoretical school and which study the origins, development, organisation, values, context and impact of historical and contemporary movements active in all parts of the world. We understand our inter-disciplinary approach to include both contributions that engage with particular schools of thought relevant to social movements and popular protest and contributions that extend across disciplinary boundaries.

South Asian Diaspora

Editor: Ajaya K. Sahoo, University of Hyderabad, India
Volume 4, 2 issues per year

The South Asian diaspora, shaped by dispersions of people, goods, ideas and beliefs that flowed from and through the Indian Subcontinent, is currently one of the world’s largest diasporas. India, Pakistan, Bangladesh, Nepal, Sri Lanka, Bhutan and the Maldives all anchor a sense of home for people who have moved outside the region through the centuries. These territories evoke emotional, social, political, economic, cultural and literary affinities as well, which find expression in multiple ways. The diaspora is also marked by struggles over meanings and tensions both amongst the diasporics and with people in the countries where the diasporics now inhabit. In South Asian Diaspora we aim to explore some of the issues that the South Asian diaspora presents for the contemporary world.
