CALL FOR PAPERS

The Journal of African Cultural Studies is an international journal providing a forum for perceptions of African culture from inside and outside Africa, with a special commitment to African scholarship. It focuses on dimensions of African culture including African literatures both oral and written, performance arts, visual arts, music, the role of the media, the relationship between culture and power, as well as issues within such fields as popular culture in Africa, sociolinguistic topics of cultural interest, and culture and gender. It has evolved from the journal African Languages and Cultures, founded in 1988 in the Department of the Languages and Cultures of Africa at the School of Oriental and African Studies, London. Although the journal no longer carries articles on African languages that are primarily linguistic in character, it remains strongly interested in the languages of Africa as channels for the expression of their culture. All views expressed are those of the authors and are not necessarily those of the editors.

All research articles in this journal are subject to rigorous peer review, with initial editor screening and anonymized refereeing.

Submission Details

The editors welcome original contributions. All material should be typewritten or printed. Two copies are preferred, but we will accept a single copy from addresses in Africa; please retain a copy for yourself. There should be an initial page with the title, author's name (as you wish it to appear), institution and mailing address (including email and fax if available); the title should be repeated on the first page of the text, without author's name.

Manuscripts should normally not exceed 12,000 words (about 22 pages of print).

Editorial correspondence, including manuscripts for submission, should be addressed to the Editor:
Journal of African Cultural Studies, Department of the Languages and Cultures of Africa, School of Oriental and African Studies, Thornhaugh Street, Russell Square, London, WC1H 0XG, UK. (Telephone: 020 7898 4968; Fax: 020 7898 4399; email jacs@SOAS.ac.uk).
