

Global Financial Crisis - CALL FOR PAPERS

Global Change, Peace & Security is a leading peer reviewed journal published by Routledge (UK) and based at La Trobe University, Victoria, Australia.

GCP&S calls for research articles analysing the nature, implications, and consequences of the Global Financial Crisis; a crisis which has sparked the most widespread and severe global recession since the 1930s.

We seek contributions from across the social sciences: particularly from international relations, political economy, and peace and conflict studies.

Global Change, Peace & Security is particularly interested in research exploring:

- The nature of the Global Financial Crisis and theoretical approaches to understanding the crisis within the international economic and political systems of the 21st century
- The impact of the Global Financial Crisis on ongoing international, regional and national conflicts and peace processes
- The consequences of the Global Financial Crisis for international power dynamics, global institutions, and systems of governance

Other perspectives on the Global Financial Crisis and its implications will be favourably received.

Contributions should be 6,000–10,000 words in length, comply with all requirements of the GCP&S style guidelines, and be emailed as an attachment (in Word, in English and with GFC in the subject heading) to:

gcps@latrobe.edu.au

By 27th of November 2009

Style guidelines are available from: <http://www.tandf.co.uk/journals/journal.asp?issn=1478-1158&linktype=44>. Global Change, Peace & Security also publishes shorter reflective pieces (4,000 words maximum), research reports, news commentaries and replies to research articles.

GCP&S also welcomes regular contributions within the scope of the journal.
