

New Review of Academic Librarianship

Welcome Dr. Graham Walton

The New Review of Academic Librarianship would like to welcome the new Editor-in-Chief, Dr. Graham Walton. Dr. Walton comes to the Journal with over 30 years of experience primarily in academic libraries. He is currently Service Development Manager at Loughborough University Library where he is also Honorary Research Fellow in the Department of Information Science. Prior to this, Graham worked at Northumbria University where he was Sites Services Manager and also Assistant Director in the Information Management Research Institute.

He has written numerous journal articles on health information user behaviour, library strategic direction and the e-library developments. He was Editor of Health Information and Libraries Journal between 2003 and 2008 and has jointly edited two books on health libraries

New Review of Academic Librarianship

CALL FOR MANUSCRIPTS

The New Review of Academic Librarianship, a peer-reviewed journal published Taylor & Francis, welcomes the submission of manuscripts.

The journal is devoted to the issues and concerns of academic libraries across the world. Particular areas of interest include:

- institutional repositories and the place of the library
- new developments in library space, planning and utilisation
- electronic procurement, management and use
- changing roles of the librarian
- new areas of collaboration and resources sharing
- cross-sectoral initiatives
- user (research and learner) information seeking behaviour

If you are interested in submitting an article, send the manuscript directly to the Editor, Dr Graham Walton at j.g.walton@lboro.ac.uk. Inquiries and questions are welcome.

Instructions for authors are available at www.informaworld.com or can be emailed to you directly.