IDSA's Third Annual Conference on South Asia "South Asia 2020: Cooperation or Conflict?"

The Institute for Defence Studies and Analysis (IDSA), New Delhi is organizing the third Annual International conference on South Asia from November 4-6, 2009. The theme of this year's conference is "South Asia 2020: Cooperation or Conflict". The conference aims to bring together security experts, political analysts, policy makers and academicians to examine how the region is going to shape its political and economic future ten years hence. Can the countries move out from conflict paradigm to a cooperative future?

The IDSA invites scholars/experts to send an abstract of 500 words on their area of interest to the conference coordinator, Dr Smruti S. Pattanaik, at smrutipattanaik@rediffmail.com. Details of the conference are available at the IDSA website <http://www.idsa.in>.
