Taylor & Francis would like to invite you to submit your article to Engineering Studies

Engineering Studies is an interdisciplinary, international journal devoted to the scholarly study of engineers and engineering. Its mission is threefold:

- 1 to advance research in historical, social, cultural, political, philosophical, rhetorical, and organizational studies of engineers and engineering;
- 2 to help build and serve diverse communities of researchers interested in engineering studies; and
- 3 to link scholarly work in engineering studies to broader discussions and debates about engineering education, research, practice, policy, and representation.

Engineering Studies is published three times yearly by Routledge, an imprint of the Taylor & Francis Group, beginning in 2009.

The International Network for Engineering Studies (INES) was founded in Paris in 2004 with the mission that now defines the Journal. INES operates as a collection of overlapping intellectual communities, linked by meetings, workshops, conferences, and the host website. It is designed to complement memberships in other professional societies.
