

Call for Manuscripts

Journal of Research in Childhood Education

The Journal of Research in Childhood Education, the quarterly research journal of the Association for Childhood Education International (ACEI), focuses on children and early adolescents' learning and development from birth through age 13, the childhood years.

We are seeking articles about research from around the world that advances knowledge and theory of the education of children, infancy through early adolescence. JRCE primarily publishes reports of original, rigorously conducted research employing diverse theoretical approaches, methodologies, and disciplinary perspectives, and conducted in a variety of settings (homes, centers, classrooms, hospitals, and other community environments). Authors should exercise due rigor in interpreting data.

Pilot studies, and other research efforts of limited scope or duration, are not typically considered for publication—exclude research with very brief intervention (treatment) periods. Qualitative studies (e.g., case studies) are welcome. Submissions from outside North America are encouraged.

Authors should include an abstract, and manuscripts should not exceed 40 pages total, including all tables, appendixes, notes, and references.

Our Readers

Our readers are teacher educators and education researchers in universities around the world, and researchers in public and private agencies.

Successful Articles

ACEI's publishing program strives to support the Association's mission, which is to promote children's education and development, and influence educators' professional growth. Manuscripts are judged according to how well they reflect that mission (see www.acei.org for the complete mission statement).

In addition, successful articles:

- Address international concerns
- Reflect the most current knowledge in the related field
- Recognize the importance of family and community involvement in child care, schools, and other educational organizations
- Show respect for and support inclusion of all children, regardless of nationality, ethnicity, gender, religion, age, or ability.
