

Volume 33, 4 issues per year 2009
Alcheringa: An Australasian Journal of Palaeontology
Journal of the Association of Australasian Palaeontologists

2007 Impact Factor: 0.488
Copyright 2008 Thomson Reuters Journal Citation Reports

Free online Access*: Editor's Choice

The team at Taylor & Francis would like to give you free online access to the following 10 articles covering over 12 years of research.

All the papers have been selected by the editor of Alcheringa, Dr Stephen McLoughlin of the Swedish Museum of Natural History.

Click on link to access paper

Published in 2008

The record of Araucariaceae macrofossils in New Zealand

Author: Mike Pole

Polar dinosaurs on parade: a review of dinosaur migration

Authors: Phil R. Bell; Eric Snively

Zonate lycophyte spores from New Zealand Cretaceous to Paleogene strata

Author: J. Ian Raine

Published in 2007

Silurian atrypide brachiopods from Yass, New South Wales

Author: Desmond L. Strusz

Growth, decay and burial compaction of Dickinsonia, an iconic Ediacaran fossil

Author: Gregory J. Retallack

Published Pre-2007

New insights into ancient environments using dental characters in Australian Cenozoic lungfish

Author: Anne Kemp

Megafaunal extinction in the late Quaternary and the global overkill hypothesis

Authors: Stephen Wroe; Judith Field; Richard Fullagar; Lars S. Jermin

Trilobite faunas and palaeoenvironmental setting of the Silurian (early Ludlow) Melbourne Formation, central Victoria

Author: A. C. Sandford

Late Cretaceous Mollusca from the Chatham Islands, New Zealand

Author: Jeffrey D. Stilwell

Mid-Cretaceous calcareous and siliceous microfossils from the basal Gearle Siltstone, Giralia Anticline, Southern Carnarvon Basin

Authors: D. W. Haig; D. K. Watkins; G. Ellis

* Free online access only, limited time only 31.12.2009