NISC

Journals from Taylor & Francis and Routledge

Taylor & Francis, incorporating the Routledge imprint, is proud to co-publish a suite of top academic research journals with NISC (Pty) Ltd of Grahamstown, South Africa.

A number of the journals are ranked in the Thomson-Reuters Journal Citation Reports© and all are fully accredited by the South African Department of Higher Education and Training.

The titles are varied in their scope, dealing with subjects such as the distinctive African environmental heritage, including marine science, forestry, and ornithology. Ostrich, founded in 1930, competes for the place of oldest South African journal. Other foremost NISC journals are dedicated to music and language in African contexts and key health challenges such as HIV/AIDS and mental well-being.
