

Peer Review Statement

JITP manuscripts are put through a double blind review process. JITP has a state-of-the-art, in-house Manuscript and Review System (MARS) custom designed by the current Editor-in-Chief to improve the reliability of the review process. Current practice is to request 5-7 reviewers per manuscript, assuming that some will decline to review and some will fail to produce a review. The Editor-in-Chief makes all the selections of reviewers and asks for a review due date 30 days after the request. JITP has an average turnaround for first review of less than 90 days and a significant number of manuscripts reviewed in fewer than 60 days. JITP also has a highly regarded and slightly innovative "Replication Policy" that is aligned with the leading research journals in the field.
