

social work education

An Invitation

Are you...

- Interested in social work education?
- Concerned to promote high standards of scholarship in social work?
- Committed to anti-oppressive approaches to education and training?

Then the international journal, Social Work Education, would like to hear from you!

We are currently seeking to fill vacancies on our team of assessors and reviewers. We are also interested in extending the membership of our Editorial Board.

Whether you are an academic, a researcher, a tutor, a practice teacher/fieldwork educator, a trainer, a service user, or a social work practitioner, and you are involved in social work students' learning, we would like to hear from you.

Social Work Education

Social Work Education is now 25 years old, and is one of the foremost journals on social work education in the world. It publishes articles of a critical and reflective nature concerned with the theory and practice of social care and social work education at all levels. It presents a forum for international debate on important issues and provides an opportunity for the expression of new ideas and proposals on the structure and content of social care and social work education, training and development. In this way, it makes a vital contribution to the development of educational theory and practice in relation to social work and social care, promoting a set of standards in relation to the written presentation of ideas and experience which reflects the needs and requirements of both practice and education.

All contributions demonstrate and promote anti-discriminatory and anti-oppressive approaches to training and practice.
