The Journal of Contemporary Asia Prize is awarded annually to outstanding articles published in the journal which are judged to have provided an alternative perspective on mainstream views on contemporary Asian issues and/or contributed to the development of theory, especially on the role of the state, class analysis, power and globalisation. Two prizes are awarded each year with the winner receiving $1000 and a complimentary 1-year subscription to the journal, and the runner-up also receiving a complimentary 1-year subscription.

The 2009 prize, for articles published in 2008, has been awarded to Dr Ray Kiely, Queen Mary, University of London, for his paper, “ ‘Poverty’s Fall’/China’s Rise: Global Convergence or New Forms of Uneven Development?”, which appeared in Volume 38, Number 3.

The runner-up prize has been awarded to Dr Porphant Ouyyanont, Sukhothai Thammathirat Open University, for his paper, “The Crown Property Bureau In Thailand and the Crisis of 1997”, which appeared in Volume 38, Number 1.
