About the Award

The Liberty Mutual Research Institute for Safety and The Ergonomics Society established the Liberty Mutual Award in 2005 to promote excellence in safety and health research. The annual award recognizes the paper published in Ergonomics that best contributes to the advancement of the practice of ergonomics. The editors of Ergonomics in conjunction with The Ergonomics Society Honours Committee select the winning paper from those published in the Journal over a given 12-month period. Any author who has published in Ergonomics is eligible to receive the award.
