History of Education Society Publications

History of Education

NOW INCLUDED IN THE SOCIAL SCIENCES CITATION INDEX®

History of Education has established itself as a leading, international, peer-reviewed journal, focusing on the history of education in all parts of the world. The journal is recognised as a key resource for both educationists and social historians alike.

The journal publishes original research and major reviews of books in the history of education. Papers dealing with both formal and informal education systems, comparative education, policy-making, the politics and experience of education and pedagogy are welcomed.

The journal also includes a section entitled Sources and Interpretations, which examines historical sources and debates around their interpretation in research and practice.

History of Education Researcher

The History of Education Researcher, (previously the History of Education Society Bulletin), edited by Jonathan Doney (University of Exeter) and Rob Freathy (University of Exeter), is a peer refereed journal which publishes shorter articles on the History of Education. It is published twice a year in May and November and distributed to all members of HES.

Submissions are welcomed from new and established researchers beginning work on new material. Constructive feedback is offered to those approaching publication for the first time. The Researcher includes items on archives and acquisitions in addition to news of the Society, notices of forthcoming events and book reviews.

Special Issues
have focused on:

- Citizenship, Religion and Education
- Universities and Cultural Transmission
- 'Putting Education in its Place': Space, Place and Materialities in the History of Education
- Fruitful Labour: Work and the Historian of Education
- Education and Citizenship in Modern Scotland
- Education and Globalisation
