This is a new journal that is due to begin publication in 2007.

- This journal will be an essential reference source in my field of research and my colleagues and I will want to consult it regularly
- This journal will publish articles that will be relevant to my courses and I will be referring students to this journal
- I belong to the Editorial Board of this journal and strongly support its work and recommend articles to colleagues and students
- I have submitted a paper to this journal and will recommend it to my colleagues and students
