

Special Issue on
War, Peace and Progress:
Conflict, Development, (In)Security and Violence in the 21st Century
Volume 30, Issue 1, 2009

For thirty years Third World Quarterly has provided an intellectual and political touchstone for critical engagement with war, peace and progress. This special 30th anniversary issue brings together a wide range of contributions to mark the journal's thirty years of existence, and more importantly to address both old and new concerns that have been the focus of Third World Quarterly over the decades.

One common theme is the effort to contribute both directly and indirectly to a new agenda in relation to the future of the nation-state system and global development. All contributors bring to bear important insights in relation to the crisis of the nation-state and the future of the nation-state system and/or the crisis of global development and the future of humanity, against the backdrop of war, peace and progress.

Editor

Shahid Qadir, Royal Holloway, University of London, UK
