Food and Foodways is a refereed, interdisciplinary, and international journal devoted to publishing original scholarly articles on the history and culture of human nourishment. By reflecting on the role food plays in human relations, this unique journal explores the powerful but often subtle ways in which food has shaped, and shapes, our lives socially, economically, politically, mentally, nutritionally, and morally. Because food is a pervasive social phenomenon, it cannot be approached by any one discipline. The editors of Food & Foodways encourage articles that engage dialogue, debate, and exchange across disciplines.

Food and Masculinities

Volume 13 • Numbers 1-2 • 2005

Special Issue: Food and Masculinities

Guest Editors: Alice Julier and Laura Lindenfeld

This special issue of the journal explores men's appetites and aptitudes in the kitchen in order to shed a fascinating new light on gender roles. Original articles probe the narrowly constructed ways in which men enter and transform a realm traditionally reserved for women in Western culture.

- Mapping Men onto the Menu: Masculinities and Food
