

Multilingual Matters and Channel View Journals - available now on informaworld

Taylor & Francis Group acquired Multilingual Matters Limited (MML) and Channel View Publications' list of 19 titles during the course of 2008. We are currently finalising the transition of these titles and below is an update of how we intend to migrate the journals in the coming weeks.

Transition timeline

Currently all of the former MML/Channel View titles have been given a homepage on informaworld. We have finalised loading all journal content onto informaworld. We plan to remove MML/Channel View titles from www.multilingual-matters.net on February 28th.

Online access

Your institution's online access should have transferred automatically. We advise you to check your online access on informaworld corresponds with that on www.multilingual-matters.net prior to February 28th. A list of titles with issns, and their old and new urls is available at <http://www.informaworld.com/mpp/uploads/mlm-titles.xls>

Online access can be checked on informaworld by logging in as an account administrator, going to 'My Account', and then consulting the 'Subscriptions' tab where you can search by journal, and also download your holdings as a CSV file. Should you spot any anomalies with your access please do contact our support desk at support@informaworld.com.

Usage statistics

We hope to obtain usage statistics from the former MML/Channel View site and make these available to subscribers at a later date. In the interim, we advise all subscribers to download their usage statistics between now and February 28th if they will be required.

Link resolvers

MML/Channel View content is currently appearing in the feeds we provide to link resolver intermediaries including Serials Solutions, Ex Libris, TD Net and Ebsco Industries A-Z. We will add to this as further MML/Channel View content is made available online at informaworld.

We will provide further updates on our schedule and transition plans over the coming weeks. Your patience and co-operation in dealing with this migration at what is a busy time for you is very much appreciated. Do contact the informaworld support desk at support@informaworld.com if you have need any extra help to make this transition as smooth as possible for you and your users.
